Employment: History and Duties

Assistant/Associate Professor, Texas A&M University (Feb 1998—Present)

Responsibilities currently include research and teaching undergraduate and/or graduate courses in tourism impacts and heritage tourism, advising & mentoring graduate students, and participating on various internal and external committees. Commenced as Assistant Professor at the Department of Recreation, Park and Tourism Sciences (RPTS) on tenure-track appointment in 1998. Received tenure and promotion, commenced as Associate Professor in September, 2004.

RPTS departmental committees and related service

Current

- (i) Graduate Research Seminar Advisor/Facilitator (ongoing since Fall 2013); past Member 2008-2013. The Graduate Research Seminar was re-commenced on Nov. 8, 2013, after a hiatus of approximately three years, aided by a graduate student committee or liaison working collaboratively with me.
- (ii) International Programs Committee Coordinator (commenced Fall 2013)
- (iii) Graduate Advisory Committee Member, RPTS (Member as of Fall 2012;; returned to being a Graduate Committee member after returning from development leave in Fall 2012);
- (iv) Undergraduate Advisory Committee Member, RPTS (current Sep. 2016 onwards; previous years till Fall 2011)
- (v) Tourism program advisory committee: Member as of Fall 2013; Coordinator from Fall 2008 to Fall 2011);
- (vi) Tenure and Promotion Committee (Member since 2006; this committee is related to promotion to Associate Professor);

Prior (RPTS) committee and college related responsibilities:

- Faculty advisor to HFTP (Hospitality Financial and Technological Professionals) Student Chapter (Dec 2008-Spring 2011)
- Undergraduate Advisory Committee, RPTS (Member, Sept. 2006-Aug. 2011).
- Graduate Advisory Committee, RPTS (Member, Fall 1998-Summer 2006).
- Member of the International Committee, Fall 2010 (addressing internationalization activities and programs).
- Member of Graduate Research Seminar committee ((2008-2013 Summer)
- Supervised 6-12 internship students during the Summers of 1998-2004
- Advised Ph.D. and Masters students, through independent (directed) studies and professional internships since 1999.

- Various ad hoc committees at the departmental level, including assisting with tourism searches, reviewing assistant professor teaching for tenure & promotion purposes (Stronza, Dunlap, Outley, Woosnam, etc.)
- Ad hoc responsibilities, including coordinating course evaluations of Assistant Professors Dr. B. Kelly (Fall 2013) and Dr.J. Heo (Spring 2014) for tenure & promotion purposes;
- Ad hoc committees at the college level, including Faculty Development Leave application reviews (2012, 2013, 2014); TAMU-CONACYT proposal evaluation committee (2012).

My student-related responsibilities include teaching (see further below), mentoring and supervising students at the graduate and undergraduate level. Including past and current Master's and PhD committees at Texas A&M University (within RPTS and external to RPTS but within TAMU), I serve on an average of 10-15 graduate committees annually (up to 19 committees in 2009). External to the university I have acted as an external examiner and a committee member (two different categories) on PhD and Master's committees internationally (see table further below). I serve on these internal and external graduate student research committees in a related range of disciplines including Anthropology, Architecture, Education, Communication Studies, Fisheries and Wildlife, Urban Planning, and Philosophy.

I also mentor undergraduate students on undergraduate thesis reports (most recently, one in Spring 2010) and actively practice service-learning in my classes. Working with students to facilitate research and publication skills, as well as facilitating direct field experience for both graduate and undergraduate students through community-based projects is key to my research, outreach and teaching pedagogy. The table below illustrates the range of topics addressed by graduate students under my direct supervision (as Chair). All the graduate students below are/were RPTS students, unless noted otherwise.

Teaching Experience (September 1998–Present)

I teach undergraduate and/or graduate level courses at the Dept. of Recreation, Park and Tourism Sciences, Texas A&M University. Courses taught have included RPTS 101 (Introduction to Recreation, Park & Tourism), RPTS 202 (Foundations of Tourism), RPTS 304 (Administration of Recreation Resource Agencies), RPTS 426 (Tourism Impacts—undergraduate; in-class and online [online in 2013, 2014, 2015]), RPTS 626 (Tourism Impacts—graduate), RPTS 646 (Heritage Tourism), RPTS 689 (Philosophy of Social Research).

Field trip, high impact courses: Developed and led a new field trip course to UNESCO World Heritage sites of San Miguel and Guanajuato, Mexico—a stacked graduate/undergraduate RPTS 646/426). This course was co-instructed this with Dr. Kyle Woosnam from August 18-September 11, 2015 (9 day field trip plus 3 hour in-class seminars for RPTS 646, my part).

I have also instructed RPTS 489 (International Tourism and Sustainability) as a field trip based course. The course commenced as a team-taught course in Fall, 2006, with an 8-day field trip over Spring Break 2007 to the Yucatan, Mexico which I organized and co-led. This course was repeated in Spring 2008 with an 8-day field trip returning to the Yucatan, Mexico, over Spring Break 2008, which I coordinated and co-led as well. Instructed an adapted version of this course in Spring 2011 (graduate student field research, in-class undergraduate instruction).

Part-time Research and Teaching Assistant (September 1992–December 1996)

This position was held during my Ph.D. studies at the University of Calgary, Canada. Duties included conducting joint research and publication, teaching assistance, plus teaching one undergraduate course in leisure and tourism. Employment for the period September 1992–1996 was in the Faculty of Management, The University of Calgary. Employment for the period September-December 1996 included the Centre for Environmental Design Research and Outreach (The Faculty of Environmental Design, The University of Calgary).

Security Sales and Account Executive (November 1987–September 1991)

Employed full-time at a National Investment House (Yorkton Securities Inc., B.C.) in August 1989 to utilize greater research resources and opportunities to be involved in analyzing and underwriting junior companies. Acted as a full-time licensed Registered Representative in security sales, developed investment accounts and sales via extensive telephone calls and personal sales, provided investment advice to clients, analyzed and selected investment situations.

Identified sites, contacts and diverse range of learning opportunities to include in the Spring break field-trip for RPTS 489 (International Tourism and Sustainability) in Spring 2010. Made contacts at University of Costa Rica, San Jose, for future collaborative opportunities.

Provided guest lectures in various classes across campus (Anthropology, Fall 2012, etc.)

Other service and outreach activities (prior to 2009)

Assisted with community workshops related to Bandera Master Planning, June 7, 2008. Assisted workshop facilitators Urban Design Associates, along with four of my graduate students who also assisted on three other workshops over May-July (2008), and supervised them to conduct a preliminary study of residents and visitors to Frontier Days, Bandera, May 24-25, 2008.

Funded and mentored graduate student to develop and administer an interpretive heritage educational program for Camp Hearne, Texas, working with Roll Call: Friends of Camp Hearne. Technical report prepared and submitted (Aldrich and Jamal 2008).

Visitor Survey of the first Texas Reds Wine and Grape Festival (July 2008) conducted for the City of Bryan Parks and Recreation Department, Bryan, Texas, with the assistance of graduate students.

Facilitated student and faculty collaboration with community leaders to gather community stories and heritage information, plus develop a prototype interactive website for Hearne, Texas, as part of the Preserve America (PA) grant program (2007-08). Heading up the PA project as the lead TAMU PI, I have involved various TAMU faculty in stages over the duration of this project including Dr. Dawn Jourdan (Urban Planning & Historic Preservation), Dr. Alston Thom (Anthropology) and Dr. Ulrike Gretzel (RPTS, who assisted in developing a prototype interactive web site for this project).

Gretzel, U., Jamal, T., & Nepal, S. (2008). International Tourism and Sustainability. Brown Bag Seminar Presentation. Borlaug Institute for International Agriculture, May 8, 2008, College Station, TX.

Assisted local communities in Texas with various tourism related tasks and projects including on-site visitor festival surveys, business survey, resident surveys, tourism & cultural heritage inventories: Bryan/College Station (2004-7), Calvert (2005-6), Hearne (2004-8), Palacios (2003). Graduate classes and a number of my graduate students were involved in these projects, working directly with the communities or via departmental payroll.

Invited and coordinated the participation of TAMU team members (Dr. S. Alpern—History, Dr. S. Grider—Anthropology, Susan Scott—RPTS) in professional project based on the consultation grant awarded by the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) to the Robertson County Historic Commission and the Katy Hamman Stricker Library in Spring, 2006, to help develop an interpretive strategy for the historic library.

Assisted Extension department by recommending site location and assisting on a small Master's project exploratory study for developing a potential ecolodge on La Copita (Texas A&M ranch property in Texas). Project title: "La Copita Ecolodge", M. Arch final study, Spring 2007, by Filipa Arinto.

Faculty advisor to the Texas A&M student chapter of the Texas Environmental Action Coalition (TEAC), from Fall 1998 up to Fall 2002. Worked on Planet Earth and Earth Day Activities, supervised beautification and road clean-up projects.

Presented at several workshops in Texas communities (including Victoria, Jefferson, San Angelo), e.g., "Developing Tourism/Ecotourism Opportunities at the Local Level" at the State Extension Faculty Conference, July 15, 1999, Texas.
