AGLS Application Program Requirements

By signing below, you acknowledge your understanding that:

- The AGLS program is not a degree-granting major.
- You must establish a sponsorship contract to enter a degree-granting major within the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences. The completed and signed contract must be returned to Academic Dean's Office in 515 AGLS building.
- You must meet all of the AGLS probation requirements AND the requirements stipulated in your sponsorship contract. You may be dismissed from the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences if you do not satisfactorily meet all probation requirements.
- Establishment of a contract with a degree-granting major will not guarantee your acceptance into the AGLS program.
- Enroll in and complete at least 12 credit hours of coursework appropriate to a degree offered in the College of Agriculture and Life sciences. Part-time registration requires prior AGLS approval.
- Earn a term GPR of at least 2.50 and grades of C or better in each course.

Failure to meet any of these probation terms may result in your dismissal from the AGLS program, College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

I acknowledge application conditions for the AGLS program and any applicable scholastic probation terms:
